

横浜市立大学 教室セミナー
Yokohama City University Open Seminar

2024年5月24日 (金) 12:50-14:20 第I講堂
Friday, 24th May 2024 12:50-14:20 Lecture Hall I

English and multilingual language policy in Spain: a sociolinguistic perspective

Prof María D. Pérez Murillo

Yokohama City University/ Complutense University of Madrid

María D. Pérez Murillo holds an MA in Linguistics for English Language Teaching and a PhD in Linguistics in the area of Bilingual Education from Lancaster University, UK. She is an experienced foreign language teacher, teacher educator and researcher. She is currently an Honorary Collaborator at the Complutense University of Madrid, Spain and a Research Fellow at YCU. Her research interests include diaspora and minority education, multilingual literacy practices and Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL).

